CALLS DURING LENT

Society Finds a Way to Pass the Dull Penitential Season.

A List of Those Who Have Set Reception Days-Custom of Shaking Hands -Society Notes.

The dullness of Lent promises to be even more apparent this year than usual. It is the season of the year when ladies in particular cease their entertaining, and the time usually so spent is divided. The spring dressmaking is looked after, and everyone tries to get her long list of unpaid calls made up. Even if the call is returned by another, who is bent on doing the same thing, within the six weeks at least every visit of long postponement is made. The matter of having days at home has been found to be a very advantageous one, and those who have continued in the practice have found that the day has not only been a very pleasant one, if callers appeared, but, as one lady expresses it, "If no one comes in and you have a bit of sewing, fancy work or a book at hand you can accomplish wonders, while if you have no day at home you will probably be out yourself doing nothing." Many have asked that a list of reception days be given in the Journal, and, as far as obtainable, the following is the list:

Shaking Hands. Brooklyn Eagle.

The handshake is a relic of homage; the lifted hat is a memory of the lifted helmet and a sign of peace. There are curious reasons for some of the customs of greetings and good-byes, which in times past have been a matter of importance. though they may seem trifling now as friends meet each other in the street or drawing room. It seems a pity that the Inconspicuous, friendly handshake should degenerate into anything so ungraceful, so peculiar as the present fashionable maneuver, which gives rise to many awkward situations. The pump-handle shake has nothing to recommend it. At the best it is only a whim of the hour to please the fickle idler. It is an awkward attempt to shake two hands on the level of the first two hands on the level of t to shake two hands on the level of the face. with a curious sideways movement lower down, which finally ends in a ridiculous sawing of the air, perfectly indescribable. It lacks all the spontaneity of the easy, cordial grasp of the hand and bids fair to turn a customary act of friendship into ridicule. Ludicrous instances occur often in society, which leave a feeling of chagrin, on the part of one at least, for nobody likes to put forward the hand with a pleasant smile of recognition only to find hobody likes to put forward the hand with a pleasant smile of recognition only to find the greeting ignored, because one does not happen to be familiar with this new pumphandle acquaintance which the old friend has adopted. Vagaries of fashion change, and it is to be hoped this late style of hand shaking will soon be dropped, while it should be perfectly good form in any circle to keep to the old dignified fashion of salutation.

GREAT SALE OF

UNDERWEAR

Our Muslin Underwear sale began last Monday, and the interest manifested has increased each day, yesterday being the largest of all. The sales are unparalleled, surpassing even our most sanguine expectations.

The reasons are apparent after an examination of the goods—the best values ever offered in the city. Hundreds of pieces at prices you would pay for materials alone, and the cheapest pieces are finished with as much care as the finest. Corset Covers, perfect fitting; Gowns, full length and extra width; Short and Long Skirts, Chemises, Drawers, Children's Gowns, Drawers and Waists; extra size Gowns and Drawers for large women, and Children's Canton Flannel Sleeping Robes.

Such expressions as "Just beautiful!" "Surprising!" "Wonder how they can be sold so cheap; we can't begin to make them for that!" and many others are heard continually over our counters.

The loss is not ours. A manufacturer had to raise money. He had the goods; we had the money. Consequence is, we secured the goods at our own price-a saving of at least one-third.

To keep up the growing interest to-morrow we will offer some extraordinary bargains.
